Abstract

The ICANEPO project aims to develop an application for the management of court cases of the European Payment Order by judicial authorities. Throughout the development of the application, the project has created supporting training material, targeted towards both the users and the future maintainers and developers of this application.

This document describes the training resources available (software, manuals etc) as well as a brief training concept that could utilise them in the future.

1. Training Resources

1.1. ICANEPO User Manual

The core element behind the training resources created during the project is the ICANEPO User Manual. Rather than following a standard user manual approach, this document has been intentionally structured in a format that presents a "user flow" (or "user story"), similar to the design principles followed during the development of the application.

In this way, the user manual can also serve as training material, as it explains, step-by-step, how to use the ICANEPO application in a standard scenario where the court receives a Form A and replies with relevant forms. As is the case with the ICANEPO core, the manual covers all of the basic aspects of the regulation, i.e. the standard workflow involved in exchanging standardised forms via e-CODEX. Since some aspects of the user flow may differ across member states, the following things should be taken into account:

- The way that this manual is used in training is left up to the implementing authority, since roles may differ (the manual uses an abstract role assignment of User1, User2 etc).
- In the case of national extensions of ICANEPO that handle specific procedures, the manual should be adapted accordingly.

Some screenshots of the ICANEPO User Manual can be found below, while the full version of the manual is also included in this deliverable as ANNEX A: ICANEPO User Manual.

To do so, User 2 needs to create a new task by clicking on the button "Create new task" in the upper right corner of the screen. User 2 etits the task data as required and assigns User 3 in the field "Assignee". By clicking on the button "Create task" in the lower right corner of the task panel the system will create the task with the assigned User 3.

1.2. ICANEPO module for the e-CODEX Auto-responder

1.2.1. The e-CODEX Auto-responder

The e-CODEX Auto-responder is a software which was created by project partner AUTH and has been used successfully in similar, e-CODEX-based EU projects and trainings. It was first developed as a companion to the e-CODEX Central Testing Platform (also developed by AUTH and now operated by eu-LISA) to create testing and training environments where the receiving authority ("played" by the Auto-responder) not only receives, processes and validates e-CODEX messages, but also automatically replies to them using basic business rules. This setup can fully emulate the workflows of a specific e-CODEX use case, such as EPO.

As can be seen in the figure above, the e-CODEX Auto-responder can, in the proper setup, also be used for real-time self-paced training, where a user sends a message through an e-CODEX compliant Case Management System (e.g. ICANEPO) towards a full e-CODEX infrastructure that automatically replies to the form(s) received. The e-CODEX Auto-responder also features an interface to emulate the reception of forms, as a user can request that a form is sent to them using a simple, password or keycloak-controlled interface (shown in the figure below).

1.2.2. ICANEPO module

During the development of the ICANEPO project, the project partners collaborated on designing, developing and deploying an (ICAN)EPO-specific module for sending and receiving test forms automatically, using the e-CODEX Auto-responder. This module was not only helpful for testing the full e-CODEX workflow of the application but also sets the stage for the subsequent possible use of the module for training purposes.

More specifically, the ICANEPO module includes the following pre-defined, standardised EPO forms that can be received by a court handling EPO cases:

- Form A (Initial)
- Form A (Reply)
- Form C2 (Reply)

An example of using the ICANEPO module of the e-CODEX Auto-responder to request a Form can be seen in the figure below:

ecodex 🎃 Auto-	responder	User: icanepo
	Select Exercise
	Send Form_A (Initial)	ŋ .
	Send Form_A (Reply)
	Send Form_C2 (Reply)

Additionally, the ICANEPO module includes a set of basic business rules to reply to incoming forms (i.e. forms that can be sent out by the court) based on the content of specific EPO fields (e.g. the name of a claimant or the ID of a case). These can lead to the following actions:

- Reply with Form B
- Reply with Form C
- Reply with Form D
- Reply with Form G

1.2.3. Sample Content

All e-CODEX messages produced by the module were accompanied by their respective e-CODEXcompliant XMLs, based on example forms (samples) that were previously created and maintained by AUTH on the e-CODEX Central Testing Platform. Due to its complexity, PDF generation is not handled by the e-CODEX Auto-responder, but all resulting XMLs include the original information (e.g. case ID, persons/court involved etc.) to create an as-realistic-as-possible environment.

1.2.4. Testing environment

To facilitate exchanging test messages for project purposes, a full e-CODEX test infrastructure was setup in AUTH premises. This setup included:

- 1) A full e-CODEX node (Gateway / Connector) that was connected to the ICANEPO application ("XX" node)
- 2) A full e-CODEX node (Gateway / Connector / Connector-client) that hosted a copy of the e-CODEX Auto-responder with the ICANEPO module installed. ("ZZ" node)

For the duration of testing, both nodes were connected using custom p-Modes, based on the official EPO p-Modes by eu-LISA. This setup created a functional testing environment where real e-CODEX messages were exchanged between the ICANEPO application and the Auto-Responder.

This testing environment will be maintained by AUTH on a shut-down (paused) state after the end of the project and, thus, can be reactivated on demand.

2. Training Concept

Based on the above available resources, this section of the document presents a training concept that can utilise them towards training.

2.1. Scope of Training

The scope of an ICANEPO training concept is limited to training users on how to use the EPO flows in an environment where ICANEPO is installed (a Court), and not on how the European Payment Order procedure works. The envisioned goal is for users to get hands-on experience with ICANEPO, which includes both business processes, logic, operational and legal aspects, as well as the technical implementation (User interface) and specific use of the ICANEPO environment.

2.2. Training Exercises

The following sections present a series of simple training exercises that can be used in the context of ICANEPO. All of these exercises can also be performed by triggering automatic incoming Form A messages from the e-CODEX Auto-Responder (presented in the previous section), as was done during the internal testing of the application.

For the purposes of conformity, these exercises use a simplified version of the OASIS TAML guidelines on how to create test assertions, which follow a similar format to training exercises (in the context of requirement/goal).

2.2.1. Incoming Form management

Target: Interface familiarity – case handlingPrerequisite: A Form A is received by the courtPredicate: The form is assigned to a case and a user that will handle it

In this training exercise, the trainee will learn how to handle an incoming Form A, by assigning a case number to it and then assigning a user to handle it.

2.2.2. Reply with Form B & G

Target: Interface familiarity – reply with EPO form Prerequisite: A Form A requires a reply with Form B (step 1) & Form G (step 2) Predicate: EPO Form B and EPO Form B are generated and sent back to the claimant by the court through ICANEPO

In this two-step test, an incoming Form A receives a Form B reply. The court then awaits for a "corrected" (revised) form A response, after which it can issue Form G.

2.2.3. Reply with Form C & D

Target: Interface familiarity – reply with EPO form
Prerequisite: A Form A requires a reply with Form B (step 1) & Form G (step 2)
Predicate: EPO Form C and EPO Form G are generated and sent back to the claimant by the court through ICANEPO

In this training scenario, an incoming Form A is replied to with a Form C1. The claimant replies with Form C2 which leads to a rejection (Form D) by the court.

2.2.4. Alternative versions for Form training

Exercises 2.2.2 & 2.2.3 are grouped together in order to train users in as many forms as possible using the same workflow. An alternative is to break down (or expand) the forms in separate exercises as follows, while also testing other aspects of the workflow such as the case where the time limit is not respected or a statement of opposition¹:

- Form A \rightarrow Form G
- Form A \rightarrow Statement of opposition
- Form A \rightarrow Form D
- Form A \rightarrow Form B \rightarrow Form A \rightarrow Form G
- Form A \rightarrow Form B \rightarrow Form A \rightarrow Statement of Opposition
- Form A \rightarrow Form B \rightarrow Form A \rightarrow Form D (unfounded)
- Form A \rightarrow Form B \rightarrow Form D (time limit not respected)
- Form A \rightarrow Form B \rightarrow Form A \rightarrow Form C1 \rightarrow Form C2 \rightarrow Form G
- Form A \rightarrow Form B \rightarrow Form A \rightarrow Form C1 \rightarrow Form C2 \rightarrow Statement of Opposition
- Form A \rightarrow Form B \rightarrow Form A \rightarrow Form C1 \rightarrow Form C2 (Refuse) \rightarrow Form D
- Form A \rightarrow Form B \rightarrow Form A \rightarrow Form C1 \rightarrow Form D (time limit not respected)

2.3. Making a case for a "Train-the-trainer" approach

Judicial IT systems such as ICANEPO, require a degree of specialized knowledge and consistent updates. When considering the training needs of such a system, a train-the-trainer approach can be highly effective due to its ability to create a sustainable and scalable model for education and skill development.

By training key personnel—judges, court administrators, or legal educators—who can then pass on their expertise to their colleagues, the approach ensures that training is not only widespread but also adaptable to local needs (and possible ICANEPO national extensions). This peer-driven model not only enhances the credibility of the training but also helps build a network of experts who can provide ongoing support, share best practices, and tackle challenges collectively.

The details on how to create a "train-the-trainer" approach are out of scope of this document and would also vary greatly according to national procedures. However, the exercises presented above can be used as a template.

ANNEX A: ICANEPO User Manual

Document Version: 1.0 Last Update: 02/2025

Introduction

This manual explains how to use the International Core of the ICANEPO application step by step, by means of presenting a simple user flow. It covers the main steps, starting from a user's task list where a new Form A has arrived and ending with the process of issuing a Form E. Each section includes detailed screenshots and descriptions to assist in understanding how to complete each task.

This manual does not intend to provide a complete description of ICANEPO functionalities or how the European Payment Order should be handled by a court, but rather to walk the user through what can be considered the "standard" EPO workflow (i.e. from Form A to Form E). Once a user understands how to handle such a workflow, they are able to apply the same functionalities to the subsidiary workflows with all other EPO Forms, which are included in the Annex for reference.

User Flow

This user flow requires that a claimant has already sent an EPO Form A electronically (e.g. via the European Electronic Access Point) to the competent court which hosts the ICANEPO application. As such, in this scenario:

- The ICANEPO application has received the Form A and has automatically created a new task which is -not yet- assigned to a person/organisational entity or an existing case.
- For the authority handling the EPO case, it is first necessary to assign the task to a person/organisational entity, create a new task and a new case and then decide upon any follow-up action.

In the following user flow, there are three different types of actors, which can be typically found at a court competent for EPO. The relevant actors and their responsibilities, however, might differ from member state to member state. Also, there might be combinations of user roles within one person.

For the purpose of this document, the actors are abstractly titled as User 1, User 2 and User 3 with the following competencies:

- User 1 is competent for incoming messages at an authority and assigning them to the next user. Typically, it is some kind of registration office, but it could also be e.g. a court clerk of a department dedicated to processing incoming messages.
- User 2 is competent for managing the case data including the documents of the case and sending messages. Typically, it is a court clerk at a department competent for EPO.
- User 3 is competent for making decisions in the case, such as the forms to be created and sent. Typically, it is a court officer or judge at a court competent for EPO.

Note: the following user flow is an abstract and simple example of how a flow from Form A to Form E might work using the ICANEPO International Core. The details of the flow might be different in each Member State.

User 1: Display list of tasks & Show/Edit Task

User 1: The first step is to open the task list with all available tasks, including the newly created task with the received Form A (Reminder: this task was automatically created by ICANEPO upon the reception of a new incoming Form A). The case number is yet unassigned as no case has yet been created for the new incoming Form A.

In order to work with the task, User 1 needs to open the task either by clicking on the task or by using the "Actions" menu at the right side of each task. By clicking on the three "..." the Actions menu opens and by choosing "Edit" the task will open in editing mode.

User 1: Assign task (to another person/organizational entity)

User 1: In the editing mode of the task, User 1 now can assign the task with the new incoming Form A either to a competent person or to a competent organisational entity, such as a department. This is done by selecting the appropriate value in the drop-down field "Assignee". If necessary, User 1 can already assign a due date for this task by choosing a date in the field "Due date". By clicking on the button "Update task" in the lower right corner of the task panel the application saves the changed data.

User 2: Display list of tasks & "Create New Case"

User 2: As part of their daily routine, User 2 checks their task list. User 2 now needs to open the new task and create a new case with the data, which comes along with the task. After opening the task, User 2 clicks on the button "Create new case" in the upper middle section of the task panel.

Note: the button "Create new case" is only available when a task is not yet assigned to a case.

The application will then open the case management, create a new case and display the case data – populated automatically from the incoming Form A. User 2 needs to assign a case number, the competent authority for the case and the competent department for the case. By clicking on "Create case" the application will save the case data updated by User 2.

User 3: Create internal note (Issue court fees)

User 3: The first decision is to issue court fees for the case. User 3 creates an "Internal note" by clicking on the button "Create new note" in the upper right corner of the screen. In the "description" of the internal note User 3 orders to issue court fees for the case. By clicking on "Complete & File" the application creates the internal note and adds it to the list of official documents.

Note: court fees themselves are not handled within the core of ICANEPO. A court fee module might be developed nationally and connected with ICANEPO.

User 3: Create new task (Issue court fees)

User 3: After creating the order to issue court fees, User 3 still needs to inform User 2 – who will execute the order – about the new task. Therefore, User 3 creates a new task by clicking on the button "Create new task" in the upper right section of the screen. In the task, User 3 orders User 2 to execute the new order to issue court fees and assigns User 2 to the task. A click on the button "Create task" will create the task with User 2 as the assignee.

User 3: Create internal note (Draft Form E)

User 3: Additionally, in this scenario, User 3 may want to already order the issuance of Form E.

Note: it depends on national regulations whether the court needs to wait until court fees have been paid before processing with the case or if the court can immediately continue with the case. This example assumes that the court can already proceed with the case.

As shown in previous screens, User 3 creates an "Internal note" by clicking on the button "Create new note" in the upper right corner of the screen. In the "Description" of the internal note User 3 orders to issue Form E for the case. If necessary, User 3 can add additional information how to issue Form E in the field "Description". By clicking on "Complete & File" in the lower right corner of the panel the application creates the internal note and adds it to the list of official documents.

User 3: Create new task (Draft Form E)

User 3: After creating the order to issue Form E, User 3 still needs to inform User 2 – who will execute the order – about the new task. Therefore, User 3 creates a new task by clicking on the button "Create new task" in the upper right section of the screen. In the task, User 3 orders User 2 to execute the new order to issue Form E and assigns User 2 to the task. A click on the button "Create task" will create the task with User 2 as the assignee.

Note: the "1. Court" data and the "2. Parties and representatives" data cannot be changed here. Party data needs to be changed in the "Case" tab of the case management.

Note: all sections – such as "1. Court", "2. Parties and representatives", etc. – can be collapsed in the user interface. Click on the arrow at the upper right corner of each section to collapse or expand the section. This way the user can collapse sections which are not relevant for editing.

During the editing of the data fields of Form E, User 2 can save the form as a draft by clicking on the button at the bottom "Save as" \rightarrow "Draft". This will save the editing done so far and the draft of Form E will show up in the left section of the screen "Drafts". Editing of drafts can be continued at a later stage.

After completing the editing of all relevant data fields of Form E, User 2 finalizes the document by clicking on the "Finalize" button at the bottom. This will convert the data of the form into an official document, which is displayed in the "Digital Dossier".

User 2: Create new task (User 3 to sign Form E)

User 2: Before sending the Form E, the resulting document needs to be signed by User 3. User 2 therefore creates a new task by clicking on the button "Create new task". In the new task User 2 asks in the title and/or description of the task for the signing of Form E. In this case, User 2 adds the reference to Form E in the section "Related files" by adding the relation to the relevant document. After assigning the task to User 3, the task can be created by clicking on the button in the lower right corner of the task panel, as in previous steps.

In the new "issue" panel on the right side of the screen, User 2 completes the data for the issuing of Form E according to the information provided by User 3 in the previous step.

- In the field "Cover letter" the court may provide accompanying information regarding the documents to be issued if necessary.
- In the section "Choose recipients" User 2 selects the recipient and the type of delivery chanel by selecting the appropriate address to send the message to (e.g. postal address, e-mail, e-CODEX address).
- In the section "Attachments" User 2 may add other official documents of the case to the message. If a new document is required it must be uploaded first to the case.

To create the message with all relevant documents, the User must click on the "Finalize & Send" button in the lower right corner.

- For postal delivery it is necessary to print and send the documents locally.
- > Note: a national, central postal delivery service might be integrated by means of a national extension.
 - For e-mail the application will create an e-mail message with the relevant documents.
 - For e-CODEX the application will create and send the e-CODEX message to the recipient.

This last step concludes the basic user flow through the ICANEPO application. To create other EPO forms, you can follow the steps accordingly (see Annex).

ANNEX B: Editable ICANEPO Forms

The following screenshots display all EPO forms which are available for editing in ICANEPO. All forms are prefilled with available case data – mostly the court and party data. As described in the previous sections of this document, court and party data cannot be edited directly in the forms. Other case data, which is reused in the forms, is prefilled into the forms and can be adapted, if necessary.

Form A

Form A is issued by a claimant and not a court and as such it is not necessary for the court to edit Form A. However, if a Form A is sent to a court as a paper form it is necessary to digitalise the data on the paper form to subsequently create a case with the structured Form A data.
